

THE DAILY NEWS
The Official Organ of the City.
TUESDAY, JANUARY 18, 1876.
JOHN D. CAMERON, Editor.
"THE DAILY NEWS is the only paper in the City of Raleigh that takes the telegraphic reports."

OUR TERMS:
ADVERTISING RATES.—Per square (ten lines, nonpareil) first insertion $1.00; each subsequent insertion 50 cents. Contracts for advertisements of any space or time can be made at the counting-room of the News Office.
CONTRACTORS will positively not be allowed to exceed their space, or advertise other than the legitimate business, except by paying specially for the same.
SUBSCRIPTION RATES.—Daily, one year, $5.00; six months, $3.00. Weekly, one year, $1.00; six months, 75 cents. Invariably in advance.

Notice to Correspondents.
No letter can be published in these columns which is not authenticated by the name of its author. This we require, not for publication, but as a guarantee of the good faith of correspondents. Persons who violate this rule will have their communications consigned to the waste-basket.

The subscription list of the DAILY NEWS is larger than that of any other Daily in the State, and more than double that of any other Daily in Raleigh. Advertisers should make a note of this.

THE WEEKLY NEWS is the cheapest paper published in North Carolina. It is only one dollar per year, postage paid, contains 32 columns of plain printed news from every section of the country, and important advertisements. Always Cash.

The Newbern Times is misinformed as to there being several mercantile failures in Raleigh. There have been none of late date, and none at all affecting the general character of the business men of the place who have been eminently prudent and who have successfully avoided so far the rocks upon which the business of so many other communities have been wrecked.

The Charlotte papers are full of the bold exploits of negro highway-men who have made the roads in the vicinity absolutely unsafe. Here in this city during the past week a large number of negroes were convicted of larceny. Evidently there is a very slow progress on the road to virtue, notwithstanding the multiplication of negro schools and churches.

LEVERIER, the great French astronomer, predicted for December and January, an unusual amount of snow. On this side of the Atlantic we have laughed at his prophecies. But in this case, at least, a prophet is not without honor in his own country. In Austria, northern Italy and southern Russia, inordinate quantities have fallen, and now, in southern France, so much has fallen as possibly to prevent the holding of the elections.

The French are a queer people according to our ideas of morality. Sunday is their election day, and what ought to be the holy quiet of the Sabbath is broken by the profane violence of a turbulent rabble. The hideous footprints of the first revolution are deeply stamped upon the institutions of France, the deepness of which was irreverence for what the christian world had agreed to call sacred. And the christian world is not slow to point to the infidelities and blasphemies of the nation among those signs of Divine wrath at the contempt of His ordinances so defiantly expressed upon the statute books of France.

THE TARRIVER BEACON.
We welcome to our exchange list this new paper just started at Greenville, N. C., by Mr. Thomas B. Garner, and, accepting the first issue as a test of editorial ability, and good taste and judgment in getting up a paper, we predict success to the enterprise. It is superfluous to say that it is Democratic and has the ring of the true metal.

The salutary is a model of brevity, comprehensiveness and fitness, and we commend it as a model to those young editors who think it their bounden duty to deliver an oration when they mount the editorial tripod.

It reads: Wherefore by their fruits ye shall know them. Matt. chapter 7, verse 20.
The Cincinnati Enquirer refuses to publish the "blood and thunder speeches" of Blaine, because it recognizes in it only a campaign document for the Republican party, and adds that it was the speech of a demagogue who was making a bid for the Presidency.

In another article the Enquirer ably elaborates the idea, and shows how utterly insincere is Blaine in this violent outburst of patriotism. Does it proceed from any extraordinary love of the Union? asks the Enquirer. The question will meet a very prompt answer. There are certain questions that never will be settled. There are certain memories that never will be blotted, and it is imperatively necessary for a harmonious Union, that the men of both sections will agree to act, not upon the suggestions of embittered memories, but put them under control of discretion. The superior powers of the general government enforced the theories of a perfect Union, and it is base, cowardly and unmanly to introduce subjects which irritate and exasperate the South, bound to peace under the obligations of submission, the violation of which would bring about that resistance apparently so welcome to General Sherman—perhaps also by Mr. Blaine.

nious Union, that the men of both sections will agree to act, not upon the suggestions of embittered memories, but put them under control of discretion. The superior powers of the general government enforced the theories of a perfect Union, and it is base, cowardly and unmanly to introduce subjects which irritate and exasperate the South, bound to peace under the obligations of submission, the violation of which would bring about that resistance apparently so welcome to General Sherman—perhaps also by Mr. Blaine.

Now, we judge, not altogether from the stand point of the Republican press, that Mr. Blaine has underestimated the effect his demonstration will have upon the Northern mind. It is true the first effect was electric, and touched off passions that had been laid to rest. But the experience of the North, as well as that of the South, demonstrates the need of peace to the prosperity of the country. Both sections are seriously convinced how much they originally sacrificed to fanaticism and to passion, and the North is sensible how much it has lost by its long culture of revenge. Passion has subsided, and revenge ought to have been sated, and the "plans of fair delightful peace" would be fully perfected, but for the machinations of arch-demagogues like Blaine who need the capital of sectional hate to carry them to the heights of their ambition.

A reaction will come, because the North will not let slip from its grasp what it has so nearly secured, and the South will not be roused if it is satisfied that the sentiments of Blaine are only those of a faction, which we think time will soon demonstrate.

THE PINEY WOODS FOR SHEEP.

We referred yesterday to this region peculiarly adapted to the profitable raising of sheep. We do not over-rate its value which has been long ago demonstrated without being sufficiently utilized. This piney woods region is a portion of that great belt of pine forest which stretches from New Jersey to Mississippi, having its greatest development in North Carolina. In this State the outer rim of the belt, particularly in the counties of Harnett, Moore, Cumberland and Richmond is undulating, watered by numerous streams, and with an open pine forest, very much free from undergrowth, and coated with coarse grass. Sheep have ranged over this limitless natural pasture uncared for and unimproved, no attention being paid to breeds and very little regard being paid to the quality of the wool. The mutton, though small, is the sweetest in the world, as any one who has eaten of the Cumberland mutton will testify. These sheep, as we have said, range uncared for. But here is the country for sheep. The climate is equally free from the extremes of heat and cold, the pasturage nutritious enough to support life in vigorous health, without being luxurious enough to produce disease. There can be no limit to sheep husbandry. The population is scanty, and there are no large and frequent enclosures to start the range.

To the sheep farmer, there is no more inviting section. The land is sufficiently productive to reward labor. The population is of that industrious, thrifty, moral and intelligent class which always distinguishes those of Scotch extraction. Rail Roads pass through the country, making markets accessible, yet not numerous enough to disturb that reticency so suitable to a sheep range. And these lands are cheap and may be bought in large bodies. And this is the character of one of the sections we spoke of.

Ex Senator Revels publishes a card reiterating the statements of his letter to the President on Republican misrule in Mississippi, and adding: "I wrote what I then believed to be true, and still believe to be true, and can with equal regard for truth and good government add much of the same character touching the misdeeds of the persons therein referred to but charity bids me spare them the exposure, and I yield to their admonitions."

Senator Morton has not the slightest chance of being nominated. He will receive the complimentary vote of the Indiana delegation a few votes from Ohio, and perhaps some of the carpetbag vote of the South for which he is reaching out. But the first duty of the Republican Convention will be the nomination of a man who can be elected. Mr. Morton does not fill that bill.—St. Louis Globe-Democrat (Rep.).

The devotees of the Greenback in Wisconsin are to hold a State Convention at Madison on the 18th inst. to choose delegates to the National Greenback Convention. One of them told a reporter of The Milwaukee Sentinel last week that his party expects to carry Wisconsin by 10,000 majority and to elect its Presidential ticket without difficulty. The candidates have not been selected yet.

MR. BLAINE'S BLUNDER.
The folly of changing the Esplanade grounds.
HE IS REBUKED BY THE NORTHERN PRESS.

Mr. Blaine, after ten years of silence on the subject, and after a Republican House in which he was the master spirit, had twice voted unanimously to all the Esplanade grounds to a powerful and well-shipped Confederate leader, and appeals to the worst sectional prejudices and hate just as the Centennial year is about to call the whole people of the country to meet under one flag and celebrate a common nationality. To say that this is a blunder, is to deal as with one who may be excused for want of clear intelligence, for Mr. Blaine, is to denigrate a crime—a crime against the peace and brotherhood of forty millions of people; and to follow the logic of inevitable fruit is to trace the tale of a political suicide. As it is, we can but wait until fully has run its course, and something worthy of statesmanlike consideration is manifestly in the House.

The parliamentary strategy by which he took the floor on the Democratic bill is proof of his superior shrewdness, but the argument he used justly exposed the logical inconsistency of the Republican position. The bill was as weak as the picture he painted was strong. If he wanted to create in fact, the blunder of fiction, which is the blunder of the South, he might see in his bill a touch of highly poetical justice, as it made the Executive of the Confederate States responsible for the horrors of Andersonville that had been inflicted on the South had been inflicted on the South. This has the flavor of the demagogue pervading it. What the desolated fields and homes of the South had suffered from the South had suffered from the South. Andersonville was caused under the apple tree at Appomattox Court house when the sword of Lee was accepted by General Grant. It is too late now to reverse the acts done in the war, no matter how inhuman, upon any one individual, and hence the speech of Mr. Blaine reads to the unbiased like a flaming appeal to the bitter passions which divided into "rebs" and "Yankees." This question demands other treatment. If the Republican policy is to sow discord, it is not the golden grain of conciliation they may be prepared to reap accordingly.

Never since the strange, resplendent token of Jehovah's covenant with a dripping world first east its luminous coronet around the frowning brow of Ananias, has the heaven-sent eye beheld a more ravishing festination of the divine handiwork, than that which feasted the gaze of Raleigh last night. The display of celestial decorative taste and genius was transcendently glorious and sublime. Omnipotence itself, with all the dazzling prismatic stores of the universe at its command, could have devised nothing more enchantingly beautiful. The sky was like a sail of light, colorless as pearl, white as the ghost of a dead submarine, gradually surrounded by a soft, glowing haze, her in its coils, it rapidly expanded, and its outer edge took a pale lemon hue. This soon deepened into yellow, and that to orange. Then came a circle of green no larger, no more delicate, that could only have been wrought by mermaid's hands in ocean palaces of shadowy shells. The deeper emerald came next, followed by a broad border band of rose-colored blushing into aerial crimson, completed the ravishing concentric tints. And over it all, glittered and gauzy cloud-armor, varying in tint from the ethereal pink of peach-bloom beauty's cheeks, to the faint spirit of green that dwells in an opal's heart, not a color less magnificent as the other. Two large golden stars twinkled in and out amid the gorgeous, Delity-woven drapery of film, as if enraptured with the loveliness of which they formed a part. And over all, a rift in the great snow-bank of cloud brought out the queenly moon in full splendor, and sent ten thousand glittering rainbow fragments whirling about the sky, only to reunite again in kaleidoscopic rings without end and glories unparalleled in all our recollections of empyreal pyrotechnics. For two full hours Almighty power and skill and grace kept the curtains up and the magnificent spectacle in view. If the wrong side of heaven is so transfigured by beautiful, oh, what must the right side be!

A Man of a Thousand—A Consumptive Cured.
When death was hourly expected from consumption, all remedies having failed, accident led to a discovery whereby Dr. H. James cured his only child with a preparation of Curel's India. He now gives this recipe free on receipt of 10 stamps to pay expenses. There is not a single symptom of consumption that it does not dissipate—Night Sweats, Irritation of the Nerves, difficult Expectoration, Sharp Pains in the Lungs, Nausea at the Stomach, Inaction of the Bowels and Wasting of the Muscles. Address GRADDOCK & CO., 1029 Race Street Philadelphia, Pa., giving name of this paper.

PERSONAL AND POLITICAL.
The St. Louis Globe-Democrat also regards Hendricks as the coming man.

"Resuming Speale Payments" is the way the Pittsburgh Telegraph made its little failures, assignments and bankruptcies.

The New York Cotton Exchange has appointed a committee to memorialize Congress on behalf of the Centennial appropriation.

Gov. Coke of Texas would rather see Gov. Hendricks President of the United States than any other man in the country.

The New Orleans Times says Gen. Baxter recently coughed up a piece of coarse coal-lump which had been imbedded in his lung by a basketball thirteen years ago.

Ex-Governor Brownlow, of Tennessee, says Governor Ames, of Mississippi, is as little of the temper and wants of his constituents as a male does of mathematics.

At last the heathen Chinese is a man and a brother. Chock Wong, the editor of the Chinese newspaper published in San Francisco, has been given the rank of citizen.

The Jersey Shore Herald ironically remarks that it must be on "account of the abundance of currency" that the newspapers are blooming with full columns of Sheriff's sales.

A curiosity in journalism is the Memphis Appeal's habit of heading some of its dispatches "Deferred Telegrams." "Preferred Telegrams," we suppose are those which arrive before the editor goes to bed.

General Custer, who has probably seen as much of the excitement and adventure of war as any officer in the service, and is, besides, a bright and attractive writer, will begin a series of military sketches and reminiscences in the February or March number of The Galaxy.

Speaker Husted, of the New York Assembly, has been invited to "around whom the best elements of the party could gather with all the old-time enthusiasm." We had not thought of Fish as an enthusiast before.

Texas is the first State in the Union to appoint electors for the approaching Presidential campaign. Ex-Congressman D. C. Giddings and Hon. B. H. Epperson were chosen Democratic electors for the State at large by the recent convention.

Bully for old Kentucky! Her total bonded debt is only $184,394, and against this she has in cash $1,185,362. The State has therefore money on hand enough to pay every dollar it owes and leave a balance on hand of $1,000,967.—Savannah News.

Up in New England they run paper mills from the Sabbath midnight to the Saturday midnight, which the employees do not like very much. An operative asserts that it costs from ten to twenty cent less for labor to produce a paper now than it did before the war.

The newspapers are breaking out into a war on mortgage churches—and a very righteous war it is. But it is simply cruel in that strong-minded Springfield paper to say that the world is ever converted it will not be by spiritual energies devoted to oyster suppers and church fairs.

Five of the members of Congress from South Carolina are negroes. Three of them, before the war, were unacquainted with the alphabet, and one of them served in the army and navy of the Confederacy and the Union, off and on, during the late unpleasantness.—Yorkville (S. C.) Enquirer.

NOON DISPATCHES.

Washington Items.
In the House Banks introduced his bill again. It has gone before committee on judiciary.

In the Senate Mr. Gordon presented the petition of G. T. Beauregard, for the removal of his political disabilities. Referred to the Judiciary Committee.

The Committee of Investigation of the Freedmen's Bank had their first meeting this a. m. Agreed that the investigation should be private. The commissioners of the bank with the books were before them.

Texas border committee appointed a sub committee to investigate the information in the war department. When that is exhausted they will probably send for persons from Texas but will not visit the State.

French Senatorial Election.
LONDON, Jan. 17.—A Paris correspondent of the London Times reports results of elections for Senatorial delegates in fifty towns forty-two Republicans and eight Conservatives have been elected. Orleans Conservatives and Montpelier Radicals. This does not influence results as every committee small or large elects one delegate. Delegates chosen by large towns are merely a drop in the rural ocean.

Further Washington Gossip—The Centennial.
WASHINGTON, Jan. 17.—The Centennial bill is said to be gaining rapidly. Several prominent Southern men take a decided stand for it, among them Senator Gordon, of Georgia. He agrees with Senator Bayard, that it is both constitutional and expedient. He has expressed himself very freely, and is earnestly for the bill on the following grounds:
1. That no section is so deeply interested in the proper celebration of the centennial as the South.
2. That the proposed appropriation would amount to about $3 cents per capita in the United States.
3. That Pennsylvania has paid $4 millions of the five millions already expended, and that it would be unjust to make that State pay more, whereas the appropriation by Congress would perfect the National character of the celebration.
4. That foreign nations, having accepted the invitation to come, the reputation of the government is involved in perfecting the arrangements, and on this account he would regret to see the South vote against it.

Buchu Heilmold Escaped from Lunatic Asylum.
PHILADELPHIA, Jan. 17.—Dr. H. T. Heilmold, confined in the Pennsylvania Hospital for the insane, yesterday effected escape. Not since heard from.

The French Senate Conservative.
PARIS, Jan. 17.—A majority of Senatorial delegates elected in departments of the Seine-et-Marne, Finistère, Vienne and Aulieu are Conservatives.

Crete.
VIENNA, Jan. 17.—There is great agitation in Crete over the movement to annex the island to Great Britain.

MIDNIGHT DISPATCHES.

CONGRESSIONAL.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 17.—HOUSE.
On call of States.
Joyce a bill to prevent the sale of intoxicating liquors in the Centennial buildings and grounds during the exhibition.

Banks, a bill for the removal of all political disabilities.
Vance, a bill to open the navigation of the French Rhodan river.
Seales, a bill granting pensions to soldiers of the Mexican war.

O'Brien, a bill for the amendment of the Constitution, prohibiting, among other things, preachers holding office under General or State government.

Saylor, a bill to amend the steamboat act.

White moved to suspend the rules to vote on the amendment bill excluding Jefferson Davis. After voting on the amendment striking out the excluding clause the vote was 165, yeas 110. Not two-thirds voting the rules were not sustained.

Holman moved to suspend the rules to instruct the currency committee to report the bill repealing resumption. The bill failed—yeas 112, yeas 158.

The Committee on Rules reported back the proposition introduced some weeks since by Holman, of Indiana to amend the rules governing the offering of the amendments to the general appropriation bills, so as to make the rule read, "No appropriation shall be reported in such a general appropriation bill, or be in order as an amendment thereto for any expenditure not previously authorized by law, except in continuation of the appropriations for such public works and objects as are already in progress, nor shall any provision in any such bill or amendment thereto changing the existing law be in order except such as, being germane to the subject of the bill, shall retrench expenditure—adopted. Yeas 156, yeas 102, nearly a party vote.

The House went into Committee of the Whole on the Centennial million of the half bill; no action.

Morrison offered a resolution calling on the President for correspondence with Spain about Cuba; adopted.

Knott offered a resolution instructing Committee on the Judiciary to consider the law now in force in the district of Columbia relating to libel, adopted.

Senate. Morton will call up his Mississippi amendment on Wednesday. Sherman's amendment to charter freedmen's colleges comes up tomorrow. The Judiciary Committee reported adversely on allowing assistance to testify in federal courts.

West introduced two bills affecting northern Pacific railroad, one to be in favor of the Gov't. Morrill said he was in favor of the bill introduced by the senator (West), but he did not desire to be committed to the idea, which he had heard of, to the effect that any amount recovered from these roads should be given to aid the Southern Pacific roads.

The bills were referred to the Judiciary Committee.

Gordon, a bill for the relief of Jas. L. Dunning, late Postmaster at Atlanta, Ga.

Eulogies on Wilson, Friday.

Boutwell stated that the Treasury officials were preparing a statement answering the questions of Senator Davis, which will be ready tomorrow. He hoped Davis would not press the investigation.

The Senate discussed rules to Executive session and then adjourned.

CONFIRMATIONS.
Several consuls and Indian agents. Wood, Postmaster, Fort Verde, Arizona. Jordan, Outback, Ga. Deitch, Calvert, Texas, Ward, Corpus Christi, Texas, Tabler, Martinsburg, W. Va.

A Husband killed by his Wife.
MASSLOW, O. Jan. 17.—The wife of Edward Richardson, a prominent citizen and member of the council, instantly killed her husband with a pistol. She was in the act of cutting her throat. Many suspect the shooting was premeditated.

Kentucky Senatorial Contest.
FRANKFORT, Jan. 17.—First ballot Beck 52, Williams 40, Leslie 29, Wadsworth 14. Leslie has withdrawn.

Suspension of the Tredegar Works.
RICHMOND, Jan. 17.—The Tredegar Company's iron works suspended. Five or six hundred operatives ousted. Details later.

Failure of the Tredegar Company.

RICHMOND, Va., Jan. 17.—General Joseph R. Anderson, President of the Tredegar Company, makes a brief statement to the effect that the company having lost largely by the panic of 1873, has been compelled in consequence of those losses and continued depression of the iron trade to suspend payment. It is hoped, however, the suspension will be only temporary. Before the panic the company was worth a million and a half over its liabilities. After the panic of 1873, the company, owing to large amounts due by Chesapeake and Ohio and New York, Ohio and Midland Railroads, became embarrassed and was granted an extension, the creditors being secured by deeds of trust on the company's property. It is believed that the liabilities not covered by the said deed do not exceed $100,000.

John H. Shields, son of Col. J. C. Shields, for many years proprietor of the Richmond Whig, was killed today near Poplar Depot on the Atlantic, Missouri and Ohio Railroad, while en route to jump or falling from westward bound train. The body was horribly mangled. The deceased was 29 years of age, and had been married but two months.

NORTH CAROLINA.

Resigned. Magnolia Record: Rev. J. N. Stallings who has been pastor of the Baptist Church at Kenansville for fifteen years resigned his charge last Sunday.

Cheap Fare. Hickory Press: A ticket for 300 miles can now be bought at any of the stations along the W. N. C. Railroad for $12.50. This is only 25 cents per mile.

A plucky old woman. Mount Airy Visitor: There is an old lady in the vicinity of Old Fort, who has, with the assistance of a large dog, captured two or three escaped convicts, delivered them to the officers, and received the reward.

Came back. Wilmington Star: We are glad to see that Mr. J. M. Chastain, who has been trying the commission business in Baltimore for a brief season, has returned with the determination of again casting in his lot with us.

Diphtheria rages. Statesville American: We learn the sad intelligence that eight children have died of diphtheria at Hickory, within the few weeks. Four children, and all in the family, died of the same disease, recently at Concord.

Col. Saunders. Charlotte Observer: Col. W. L. Saunders, of the Wilmington Journal, is still in the city. His business heart is of it, to induce some of the citizens of this place to become stockholders in the Journal.

All the ministers tea drinking. Charlotte Observer: On Friday evening in some conversation. We take this opportunity to inform Rev. T. Whitfield, the pastor of the Baptist church, where they took tea and spent a highly delightful evening in social conversation.

Shot a swan. Wilmington Journal: We were shown yesterday evening, in the store of Mr. L. Voller, on Market street, a large white swan, shot on the day previous at Topsail Sound, in the specimen, measuring about six feet from tip to tip and nearly five feet from bill to tail. These fowls are very scarce in that section and at the time of shooting the ocean question was flying with a flock of wild geese.

Katie Putnam and the dead child. The Charlotte Observer of Friday published a touching little poem written by Katie Putnam on hearing the death of little Julia Stoner, for whom she had formed a great fancy when she met her for the first and only time, just two weeks ago to-day.

A cotton thief bites off a man's thumb. Newbern Sun: Mr. William Scott, living near here, showed his cotton and went to watch for the thief. During the night he saw a man enter the out-house where the cotton was stored. He immediately locked up the thief in the storage house and went for assistance to help capture him. After a long and severe fight, during which the thumb of one of Mr. Scott's friends was bit off, the capture was effected. The thief is to be taken to Trenton jail. Upon investigation Mr. Scott found that about 300 pounds of cotton had been stolen from him from time to time.
